ABSTRACT

A window treatment which is sized to fit over a window opening and has one or more rows of loop means which are affixed to said window treatment which allow a lower portion of said window treatment to be raised vertically and affixed to a surface of said window treatment to expose a portion of the surface of said window opening.